DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the Appeal Brief filed on 4 November 2003, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new grounds of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

- (1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,
- (2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hoke (US Patent Number 2,102,532).

Claim 1: Hoke teaches a method of playing a gaming machine in which a bonus round includes an apparent game of skill (i.e., shooting the ball into the snake's mouth). The player makes a wager, which activates the gaming machine to cause a game of chance to occur – i.e., the slot reels spin. The machine then determines the outcome of the game of chance and, if the outcome awards the player a bonus round (i.e., if the player wins a payout), selects an amount of a bonus payout to be paid to the player during the bonus round. The player then participates in an apparent game of skill at the end of which, the player receives the bonus payout. (Page 4, 11-23)

Geddes, which is made of record but not relied on for this rejection makes it plain that the bonus game (flipping the ball into the snake's mouth) is an illusion of skill game. According to Geddes (on page 116):

"This form of skill was a complete sham and was used on the Mills HOKE SNAKE. When the snake said, "Feed The Snake," it meant to tap the little lever below it and try to flip the ball into the snake's mouth. This feat required the ability to steam a mirror using only your breath. Every time a winner occurred on the machine, the mechanism would come to a halt just before the payout was to occur and the player had to "Feed The Snake" to allow the player to finish its cycle."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Geddes, Slot Machines on Parade, Mead, 1980, pages 116 & 121 further explain the Hoke machine.
